"A Temporality" features Mongolian artist E. Jantsankhorol's sculptural installations which accompany the sound performance by the German sound artist Carsten Nicolai, alias Alva Noto. Nicolai intervenes together with Mongolian throat singers to translate this ancient medium of oral expression into a contemporary art form in dialogue with Jantsankhorol's sculptures.

The presentation by Vesko Gagović for the Pavilion of Montenegro assumes as its starting point Stanley Kubrick's "2001: A Space Odyssey", which revolves around themes such as human evolution and the hypothesis of intelligent extra-terrestrial life. The space is divided into four areas, each one occupied by a monumental object which functions as metaphor for the Earth, the Sun and the Moon.

A contemporary perspective of the troubled past of the nation and its influences in today's society. Portraying this journey are three artists who grew up in a post-colonial period during which the country was engulfed in a long civil war from 1977 to 1992. The result is artwork that investigates contemporary politics and popular culture, underpinned by a poetic and sometimes humorous accent.

Netherlands

Title The Measurement of Presence

Special event May 8, 12pm, Opening

Venue Giardini

Curator Benno Tempel

Artists Iris Kensmil, Remy Jungerman

Address Giardini, Castello

ID NL Map G

Remy Jungerman and Iris Kensmil present new works for the Dutch Pavilion addressing the issue of national identity and dig into the history of the country. Jungerman has conceived an installation inspired by the figures of the ancient ancestors of Dutch tradition while Kensmil's project consists of an installation of portraits in a mural painting. This celebrates black women activists who stood out in defence of their ideals for a better world.

"Post hoc" is a multi-site installation that broadcasts lists of millions of extinct, defunct and forgotten phenomena across the city of Venice. Visitors and residents will be able to hear the electronic chants when they discover Mitchell's 6-metre tall stealth towers – cell towers disguised as trees – installed in various historical sites. The lists is also printed on rolls of paper inside the historic library of the Palazzina.
